4.As gas and diesel prices continue to increase, State House leaders in Connecticut, New York state and New Hampshire have or are in the process of temporarily suspending their state’s gas and diesel taxes in order to provide economic relief for their motorists. Here is Massachusetts, Governor Charlie Baker has said he is open to the idea, but House Speaker Mariano and Senate President Spilka oppose it. 6. Legislative leaders have placed a referendum on the November ballot that would amend the state constitution to allow lawmakers to impose an income surtax. This would raise the income tax from 5 to 9 percent, which represents an 80 percent increase, on some high-income earners and middle-class small businesses. If the election were held today, would you support or oppose the legislature’s ballot question to raise the income tax?

6. Legislative leaders have placed a referendum on the November ballot that would amend the state constitution to allow lawmakers to impose an income surtax. This would raise the income tax from 5 to 9 percent, which represents an 80 percent increase, on some high-income earners and middle-class small businesses. If the election were held today, would you support or oppose the legislature’s ballot question to raise the income tax?

7. Legislative leaders have stated the proposed tax increase would raise additional funds for ‘transportation’ and ‘education’ spending. However, nothing legally binds the legislature to this, and this won’t necessarily mean more spending in these areas. Does this make you more or less likely to support the legislature’s ballot measure?

6. Legislative leaders have placed a referendum on the November ballot that would amend the state constitution to allow lawmakers to impose an income surtax. This would raise the income tax from 5 to 9 percent, which represents an 80 percent increase, on some high-income earners and middle-class small businesses. If the election were held today, would you support or oppose the legislature’s ballot question to raise the income tax?
